Texas Farm Bureau offers scholarships to teachers

Teachers interested in attending the National Agriculture in the Classroom Conference this summer can apply for financial assistance from Texas Farm Bureau (TFB) to help offset some of the costs.

The conference, set for June 24-27 in Salt Lake City, Utah, is designed to show teachers of all grade levels how agricultural concepts can be used in subjects such as reading, writing, math, science, social studies, nutrition and more.

Participants will tour farms, ranches and agricultural businesses. They will also hear from leading educators from around the country and participate in engaging learning sessions to take home ideas and resources to incorporate into their classrooms.

"We encourage local teachers who want to learn innovative, creative and hands-on ways to incorporate agriculture into the classroom to apply for a scholarship to attend the National Agriculture in the Classroom Conference," John Ross Copeland, Coke County Farm Bureau president, said.

TFB will award scholarships to five Texas teachers. The scholarships will help cover the conference registration fee, airfare or mileage to Orlando up to $700, lodging and meals.

Eligible applicants include active, Texas classroom teachers of kindergarten through twelfth grade who have not previously attended the conference.

Agricultural science teachers are not eligible for the scholarship.

The deadline to apply for the conference scholarships is January 22. Teachers can apply online at texasfarmbureau.org/aitc.
