Model T enthusiasts visit Coke County and old Jail

The Coke County Old Jail had about 40 visitors from the "Texas T Party," a Ford Model T organization out of Houston that plans events across the state in October. This year's tour of West Texas started at Fort Concho and included Robert Lee, Water Valley, Christoval and Paint Rock.

The group visited Robert Lee on Thursday, October 2, 2014, with a catered lunch by Jack Horton at the Coke County Rec Hall and a tour of the Old Jail that afternoon. There were about 40 visitors from across Texas, one couple from California who said they hauled their Model T on a trailer, and another couple of guys from Wyoming who did the same.

Some of the folks commented on the beauty of the drive on Highway 208 from San Angelo. One visiting group included a grandmother and grandfather in one Model T and their grandson and his wife in another. Two of the visitors were restoring vintage houses and were interested in the work that had been done during the restoration of the Old Coke County Jail.

The "Texas T Party" Model T enthusiasts would be welcomed in any community. Several members of the Coke County Historical Commission were on hand to guide and visit.

The group toured the Old Jail and visited for about an hour and a half and then created a parade as they left to drive to Water Valley on another of the prettiest drives in this area.
