you "in-put", goes out as "out-put".

Your eyes are "your camera". Whatever you "in-put" into your storage bank remains. It is now a part of your folder. It will remain. You can "over ride" it, but it take a lot of mental discipline.

If you in-put fearful material, it will produce fearfulness in your mind and it will not only show up in your thoughts, but also in your actions.

The body reacts as the mind produces uncertainty, nervousness, suspicions, lack of trust in others, and being anxious for no reason. It can offer worry causing sleepless nights.

If you input anger without having dealt with the anger, a spirit of resentment can well up into hate.

Our minds were not created for "hate". It is a malfunction in the brain. It can result in anguish, regret and sorrows. It can also be the cause of various illnesses. The brain can "misfire" and the anger can turn revenge, rage or other unhealthy thoughts or actions - all to your own disadvantage. The thought process is being abused.

If you in-put immoral thoughts; it will produce thoughts of impurity. It "infects" your thought processes. It is like a thorn in your hand. If it is not removed, it will fester. Pain will ensue, it will come to the surface and all will see it. Your protective walls of decency are dismantled and you are exposed. Usually, this is followed by inappropriate behavior which at some point in a person's life produce regret, embarrassment and shame.

Keep your brain well lubricated with thoughts of "love, peace and good will to others". It is for your own benefit. It can produce good physical and mental health.

In my opinion, we have just witnessed history being made in America with the inauguration of our new President Donald John Trump. A new day is dawning and we can expect sunshine, rain, tornadoes and fire.

Sunshine-it is a bright new day

Rain- It takes awhile, the clouds build sometimes with lightning and high winds. The rain begins to fall, it nourishes the seed which must break through the sod, grow and then produce.

Tornadoes- the normal and natural way is that all questioning minds have solutions that they have a need to expand upon. Everyone's thoughts are important, and we all believe that our way is best. It is human. Divisions occur among people because each person is sincerely convinced; "my way is best." So expect some turbulence with a storm here and there.

Fire- purges, cleanses, purifies and destroys. Closed minds stagnate and see no good in anything. Closed minds receive no fresh air and have no view of a better tomorrow. I use this word carefully. "It is all in the mind". Occasionally, we have to reset our minds because our minds are Gods most fabulous creation.
