That's where Texas Farm Bureau's (TFB) Youth Leadership Conference (YLC) comes into play.

For 52 years, the program has equipped students with leadership skills and economic knowledge, as well as boosted their confidence with goal-setting activities. "Every year, hundreds of students from across Texas—including Coke County—are encouraged and inspired after attending YLC," said Coke County Farm Bureau President John Ross Copeland. The weeklong conference, which will be held June 15-19 at Tarleton State University in (Continued on Page 7)

Elect to COLIN POPE to Bronte City Council

I am a native of Bronte, graduating from Bronte High School. In 2008, my wife and I returned to make our home in Bronte. During the intervening years, I served as an EMT and paramedic in various departments throughout central Texas. I observed local governments in these areas - what worked and what didn't. I would like the opportunity to work for the citizens of Bronte as your voice on the Bronte City Council and am asking for your vote.

Thank you, Colin Pope

Early voting begins Monday, April 27, at Bronte City Hall. Election day is May 9.
