

'64 Study Club member makes quilt

The '64 Study Club awards scholarships each year to two Robert Lee High School Seniors. In order to fund this project the club has fundraisers in the form of bake sale, club dues, and for several years they have raffled off a painting by local artist. The paintings have been wonderful and helped the club raise the funds necessary to award the scholarships.

For the upcoming club year three members of the club have made a quilt to be the prize of some lucky winner when their name is drawn from the hopper. The members who made the quilt were Pat Carwile, Nita Duncan, and Carolyn Long. Many long hours were spent in planning the quilt design, finding just the right fabric, washing, ironing and cutting the strips in preparation for sewing the blocks. The results were well worth all the time spent making the quilt.

Tickets will be sold for $1.00 and will be available through the summer and fall from '64 Study Club members. The drawing will be at the County Library during Robert Lee Christmas Open house in December.

The lucky winner will not only receive a quilt but additionally two matching pillow shams and a matching throw pillow.

...EPA regulations

"This debate has already happened in Congress. TSCRA worked closely with other agriculture organizations to stop this sweeping regulation and kept it from becoming law," said Joe Parker, Jr., rancher and president of TSCRA. "Now, the Administration has completely disregarded that, and instead, has taken a backdoor approach so it can further regulate the private property of landowners."

The Clean Water Jurisdiction Guidance would negatively affect ranchers by giving the federal government unprecedented regulatory authority over water bodies such as stock tanks, drainage ditches, ponds, small and intermittent streams, creek beds, playa lakes and mud holes.

Additionally, it could ultimately require ranchers to obtain federal permits and would allow the federal government to come on private property for inspections. The permits and enforcement would make it necessary for ranchers to hire engineers and attorneys to guide them through the permitting process and defend themselves against unnecessary federal regulation.

A 60-day comment period will begin as soon as the draft guidance is published in the Federal Register. TSCRA will submit comments on behalf of the more than 15,000 cattle raisers it represents.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association is a 134-year-old trade organization. As the largest and oldest livestock association in Texas, TSCRA represents more than 15,000 beef cattle producers, ranching families and businesses who manage approximately 4 million head of cattle on 51.5 million acres of range and pasture land, primarily in Texas and Oklahoma. TSCRA provides law enforcement and livestock inspection services, legislative and regulatory advocacy, industry news and information, insurance services and educational opportunities for its members and the industry.

ELECT
 ANDRA ARROTT
 To the Board of Directors
 Bronte ISD

I have a longstanding history with Bronte ISD. Mike and I graduated from here, as did our four children. Our three daughters became educators, as well as many other family members, and I understand the time and energy required to meet the ever changing mandates handed down by the state and federal government, with promises of more. It is an often thankless and frustrating task, as teaching is only a fraction of the job, with many extra hours spent in preparation and paperwork.

I believe that our school is very fortunate to have so many dedicated teachers, administrators and personnel, and that they deserve the credit for the outstanding reputation and quality of education and services we provide our students. I am the business office/financial manager of Bronte Health and Rehab Center, and am aware of the cuts that are being implemented for our schools and nursing homes. I believe our school administrator has the financial knowledge and expertise to prepare for these changes.

I previously had the opportunity to serve on the board for approximately 18 years, and would consider it an honor to again be a part of the school in this capacity and serve accordingly, should you cast your vote for me.
