District meeting of Retired Teachers Assn. set for Tuesday

Coke County Retired Teachers Association would like to remind all retired and active school personnel of the meeting at 10 am at the coliseum in Brownwood on Tuesday, June 19th.

The director of the Texas Retired Teachers Association will be giving information regarding the up-coming legislative session in which the TRS pension fund and the legislated.

There are many freshmen legislators who are not aware that Texas school personnel will not receive Social Security, because they had faith that the Texas legislature would honor a constitutional committment to a retirement fund for school personnel. It is important that school personnel be willing to actively educated and inform legislators of the importance that the TRS fund has on ordinary people.

Those who receive retirement income from the state spend the funds locally on basic things such as house payments and repairs, car payments, food, clothing, household goods, entertainment, tourism and volunteer projects. These retirement funds support the local economy. No state pension recipient can put his or her money into Swiss banks, or into multi-million dollar PACs with which to influence legislation.

A road trip to Brownwood and the coliseum on Tuesday, June 19, will be informative, and there is always the bar-b-que.

New Texas Farm Bureau member gate signs available

New gate signs are available for any Texas Farm Bureau member. The new aluminum signs are under warranty for five years and should not fade, chip or crack in that time period.

To receive a new sign at no cost, members must bring old signs to their county office to exchange. County secretaries will be able to order new monogrammed signs after old signs are returned to county offices.
