Dear Coke County Residents,

My name is James Jackson, your new Texas AgriLife Extension Service agriculture and natural resources agent. I finally arrived in Coke County June 1 and I am looking forward to assisting you in your agriculture and natural resources needs anyway Texas AgriLife Extension Service can.

I am originally from the small community of Meridian in central Texas and I am excited about getting to know the communities of Coke County. The past five years I have attended Angelo State University where I earned my bachelors degree in Natural Resource Management and completed my master's degree in Animal Science May of 2012. My time at Angelo State University allowed me to adapt to west central Texas and gain experience with the livestock production and range management practices in this area.

Throughout my college career I worked various research/production jobs giving me experience in all aspects of agriculture. The summers of 2007 and 2008 I worked for Texas AgriLife Research at the Rolling Plains Quail Research Ranch assisting with wildlife research and management practices. The summer of 2009 I accepted a research technician position at the Eastern Oregon Agricultural Research Station in Burns, Oregon. This position allowed me to see a different type of range management as well as different agricultural practices and showing me how good a place Texas is. In May of 2010 I worked for a custom grain harvester prior to beginning work on my master's degree which, was accompanied by accepting a graduate assistantship position for Angelo State University Department of Agricultural.

Growing up in a small community I was involved in the 4-H program at the city, county, district and state levels. I was involved in projects such as plant ID, educational presentations range and livestock judging while participating in stock shows at the county and major show levels. I am looking forward to working with the Coke County 4-H program and looking forward to getting to know the 4-Hers and their families.

One last note is that I am your AgriLife Extension Service agent and I am wanting to know your suggestions and ideals about any 4-H projects or educational programs that AgriLife Extension could conduct that would be desirable and beneficial in Coke County. Please feel free to contact me at any time and I look forward to serving you in any way I can.
