Orlando De La Garza

The honorees were: Brown County, Gina Goforth; Burnet County, Bill Felps; Callahan County, Tammy Ivy; Coke County, Orlando De La Garza; Concho County, Daniel Lange; Irion County, Allen Drennan; Jones County, Keith Porter; Lampasas County, Tina Loeffler; Llano County, Gary Howell; Mason County, Randall and Peggy Brown; McCulloch County, Teresa and Darrel Keese, and Heather Jo Ashton; Menard County, Wanda Martinez, and Dora Wright; Mills County, Jana Edington and Brandon Bartek; Nolan County, Mike Hart; Runnels County, Kenneth Fischer and Kim Castleberry; San Saba County, Bucky and Tana Lusty, and Autumn Castro; Schleicher County, Luann Shipman; Sterling County, Wendy Justiss; Taylor County, Pete Welch, and Colby Caton; and Tom Green County, Janice Trees and Mark Barta. Branham said the 4-H Youth Development Program offers many projects, activities and events tailored to support and enhance volunteer participation and adult involvement in young people's lives.

"This banquet is our unique way to show these individuals who are so important to our success, the appreciation they so justly deserve."

Honorees are nominated from counties in the district, Branham said. Finalists are then chosen by a committee comprised of area electric cooperative personnel and AgriLife Extension officials.

The banquet has been sponsored from the beginning by the rural electric cooperatives serving the 23 counties in AgriLife Extension's District 7 in West Central Texas.
